The argument used to be that if you didn't like what you saw on TV then just turn the TV off. Ok, I turn off the TV so my kids can't watch violent shows, but what do I do when my youngster goes outside to play with the neighbor children and the next door neighbor's kid punches him because he was watching such behavior on TV.
(It takes a village to raise a child)